

My EB-5 Ticket To Hawaii

The Ochi family of Japan always loved Hawaii and moved there in November, 2007. They also participate in the EB-5 immigrant investment visa program. Hawaii is known around the world as a southern paradise resort, surrounded by beautiful coral reefs, rich nature, and gentle sea breezes. Let's ask them about their story and their life in Hawaii.

Q : Why did you want to immigrate to the US?

A: I thought the lifestyle in the US is more suitable for me and my family than life in Japan. Actuary I feel very comfortable and satisfied with my present life in US.

Q : How did you learn about the EB-5 program?

A: One of my relatives, who already lived in the United States for years, knew the EB-5 program, and she recommended me to join American Life's EB-5 program.

Q: How long did it take to acquire the conditional green card?

A: About one year. My life was busy at the time, so it didn't feel like a long time.

Q : What is the hardest part of acquiring the green card?

A: It was a nuisance to report on records of prior US visit, as I lost my old passport with the dates stamped.

Q : Are you satisfied with your present life? If yes, why?

A: Absolutely! I can get the job I want, as there is no age discrimination in finding employment in US, very different from Japan.

Q : What is your dream?

A: My dream is to spend time on the weekends looking at the beautiful ocean and feeling the nice Hawaiian sea breeze.

I hope that someday I can run a nice café on the beach as a place to relax.

Q : Please let me hear your impressions as a participant in this program.

A: I think EB-5 is a wonderful program that helps less active regions in the United States, and allows me to contribute to the local economy. It was a very good chance to change my lifestyle. Besides financial returns are far better than money in a bank. So, I think EB-5 is a very innovative program.

Investment property in SODO, Seattle.

